

About us

SafePedia.com is a new web portal for Safety and Protection, the meeting place for suppliers, manufacturers, distributors and customers for the industry, civil protection and defense sectors.

The first online community of the safety and protection sector

In SafePedia.com, all users can freely and collaboratively add their events, news, and information. SafePedia.com is an informative and commercial online platform. Useful information such as showrooms schedules, press articles, last production processes or materials available on the market are totally free and accessible.

At SafePedia.com, we believe that the user's concern is of utmost priority. We give opportunities to both customers and suppliers to provide feedback. A forum has been constructed for the users to express their experiences with the products and services provided.

SafePedia.com services

SafePedia.com offers a large range of free services:

- a directory of companies
- a virtual shop
- a portal of information with news related to new products and services, technological advances, health and environmental issues, business agreements
- a calendar of events
- a free encyclopedia with specific and technical terms built collaboratively. Your new online marketing team SafePedia.com is your new team for marketing online. We take care of your online marketing strategy :
- Google adwords (advertising strategy per product)
- Banners insertion SafePedia.com becomes your online sales team & information supplier and will target your future customers. We know you already have :
- Great products and services
- Great implantation on your segment
- Good Brand image

So, let us extend it globally

You new online sales team

Thanks to its wide customer database, SafePedia.com will provide you with qualified contact leads.

SafePedia is a perfect online exhibition for your products.

We build your own showroom :

- We highlight your product assets
- We feature your products in our template We provide you customers or leads :
- We can sell you the contact lead
- Or simply sell the product for you SafePedia.com will become the reference of the market in terms of visit frequency:
- Visits come from more than 47 countries
- 65% of the visitors are new members
- 27% of the top websites of your industry bring your future customers in our portal.
- 79% of them entered in our website through Google.